GERMAN ANSWER MAY BE DELAYED

Attitude of Italy Confronts the Kaiser's Cabinet.

WILL AFFECT FOOD SUPPLY

Entrance of Mediterranean Country
Into the Conflict on the Side of Russia, France and Great Britain
Seems Assured—United States May Soon Send Vigorous Note to Allies.

Washington, May 19.—Two important factors, it became known, are working to delay for another week Germany's reply to the American note of May 12, sent as a consequence of the Lusitania disaster.

First—The next few days are expected to decide whether Germany will be confronted with a new military situation by the entrance of Italy into the war and the cutting off of all supplies through the Mediterranean.

Second—Interested diplomats here believe the interim of delay will reveal whether the United States of its own initiative will send a general protest to the allies with respect to their alleged violations of international law by interfering with commerce between American ports and neutral countries of Europe.

Officials here generally think the Austro-Italian situation may absorb the attention of the German government during this week and delay the final composition of the reply. Such information as the United States government recently has received is of a positive nature, indicating that Italy will soon enter the war, though in Austro-German quarters here there still is confidence that a break will be averted.

Food Supply Threatened.

It is realized that should Italy become a belligerent Germany would lose all hope of obtaining foodstuffs or other supplies through the Mediterranean and if Roumania followed Italy's lead, as predicted, the wheat supply from Southeastern Europe would be cut off.

In such circumstances of almost complete isolation, it is explained in diplomatic quarters, Germany would find the submarine even more invaluable a weapon for reducing enemy supplies and commerce.

The idea that the United States will send a note to the allies seeking modifications of their order in council has its origin in quarters where the conviction is held that such a move at this time, would demonstrate to Germany the intention of the United States to be equally vigorous in an insistence on the observance of neutral rights by Great Britain and her allies, making unnecessary an offer by Germany to return to the maritime rules of international law, if the allies did likewise.

Although without definite information there is a disposition in well informed quarters here to believe that the president, who returns to Washington Thursday, will withhold any contemplated representations to England until Germany's reply is received, because of the desire to obtain a frank understanding with the latter country on the points raised in the American note without complicating them with the situation as between the United States and the allies.

GERMAN CLAIM DISPROVED

Federal Reserve Banks Are Shown to Have Discounted No Notes.

Washington, May 19.—Examination of the records of the federal reserve board has disclosed that no notes drawn in payment for munitions of war for European belligerents have been accepted and endorsed by federal reserve banks.

This question was brought to the attention of officials here by a statement credited to Professor Jastrow, a German economist, that American neutrality had been violated through the handling of such papers.

It was pointed out, however, that the reserve banks are not national institutions, as the government owns no stock in them.

AMERICAN NOTE DISPLEAS

Cologne Gazette Sees Climax to "Anti-Neutral Attitude."

Amsterdam, May 19.—The Cologne Gazette, a copy of which has been received here, makes the following comment on the American note to Germany:

"It shall, we are sure, receive the answer from our government that it deserves. Its contents and language seem to indicate that it must be considered to be the consequence of the anti-neutral attitude the American government has assumed against Germany in an increasing measure."

PRINCE VON BUELOW.

German Ambassador is Ready to Leave Italy.

TEUTONIC ENVOYS READY TO DEPART

Said to Have Asked Italy for Their Passports.

London, May 19.—A dispatch to the Central News from Rome, dated Tuesday, says:

"The Giornale d'Italia announces that Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador, and Baron von Macchio, the special ambassador of Austria, have demanded their passports."

Several cases and trunks belonging to Prince von Buelow and Baron von Macchio, which are believed to have contained the documents of the two ambassadors, already have been sent out of the country. Neither was examined, being entitled to diplomatic immunity from search.

The Messagero says that it is of the opinion that Prince von Buelow and Baron von Macchio are only awaiting definite instructions from their respective governments to ask explanations of the Italian government concerning Italy's purpose and that this request will be answered by handing them their passports.

LISBON IS REPORTED QUIET

Injury to Chagas Said Not to Be Serious.

London, May 19.—The Portuguese minister announces he has received a telegram from Lisbon which announces that the injury of Joao Chagas, who was shot by Senator Freitas, is not serious and that unless complications set in no grave consequences will result. The message adds that at the time of the shooting Senator Freitas was known to be irresponsible.

Lisbon was reported in the dispatch to the minister as being quiet and the situation there to be well in hand.

DUTY TO SINK LUSITANIA

German Paper Says England Can't Use Passengers as Shield.

Berlin, May 19.—The Tagliche Rundschau says:

"Owing to the presence on board the Lusitania of ammunition which menaced the lives of many thousand German soldiers, it was not only Germany's right, but her duty, to sink this auxiliary cruiser, which was bringing ammunition to England and using American citizens as a shield for carrying contraband. More sacred than the lives of neutrals are the lives of our compatriots, our brave troops who would long since have ended the war if America had not prolonged it by the profitable export of arms to our enemies."

"America, as always, is proud of her sober reasonableness and when English mendacity has abused she will say that Germany violated no American rights, but acted according to right and duty as she was obliged to act."

SENDS APPEAL FROM TURKEY

(By United Press)

Washington, May 19.—Renewed anxiety is felt over Germany's delay in answering the United States' note. It is believed it will not be answered until next week. It is also realized that the Italian issues are paramount and if that was the reason the United States is unconcerned. If, however, Germany is waiting, the United States, and not England, will be greatly disappointed. The United States does not want the idea of bargaining.

Germans Repulsed With Heavy Losses

(By United Press)

Paris, May 19.—A bloody battle fought in the mists overhanging Flanders resulted in the repulse of a strong German detachment with heavy losses. The Germans seized upon the fog and rain to cloak their advances against the positions held by the allies on the east bank of the Yser. They approached within a few yards of the French trenches, and opened the attack by a showering of bombs and hand grenades, then came charging the French trenches over flooded fields. Machine guns shattered their foremost columns and their first line was completely annihilated and the supporting companies broke and retreated through the fog in great disorder. A lull in the fierce struggle around Ypres and Arras is reported, the fog impeding operations.

GERMANY SUSPENDS SUBMARINE ATTACKS

Halts Warfare on Merchant Craft
Pending Negotiations.

New York, May 19.—Orders suspending submarine operations against merchant vessels have been issued by the German government pending the outcome of negotiations regarding the representations made by this government in President Wilson's note, according to a Washington dispatch to the Times.

The Times says the information was obtained in "a well informed quarter" after cable press dispatches had said a German submarine fired a torpedo at the liner Transylvania on her trip from New York to Glasgow, ended Monday. It was said at this source of information that the report about the Transylvania could not be correct "for the reason that submarine activity had been discontinued by the German government."

It is not disclosed, the Times dispatch says, whether the new orders require that there are to be no attacks by German submarines on freight vessels of nations at war with Germany when they are supposed to carry war supplies and have no passengers on board, but the dispatch says it is the understanding that the order will apply to all merchant vessels, belligerent as well as neutral.

"I consider it proper to indicate these concessions to you."

Into Building to Save Boy.

Mesaba, Minn., May 19.—Mrs. Otto Nyssonen, thirty-five years old, and her son, Esco, twelve years old, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the Nyssonen home. Six persons were rescued by neighbors with ladders. Two children were saved.

John Benson, who lived on the lower floor, saved his wife and nine-months-old baby, just before escape from the building was cut off.

The fire is supposed to have started from sparks from the kitchen stove. Mrs. Nyssonen and her son were asleep in the kitchen.

Benson heard the woman's screams, and when he realized that the building was doomed he made his way back into the house and dragged his wife and baby into the yard.

Mrs. Nyssonen went back into the house to save her son Esco. Neighbors attempted to prevent her, but the roof crashed in and it is supposed she was carried to the cellar as the wall collapsed.

Nothing like "Tiz" for aching, sweaty calloused feet and corns—
"TIZ" is glorious!

Why go limping around with aching, puffed-up feet—feet so tired, chafed, sore and swollen you can hardly get your shoes on or off? Why don't you get a 25-cent box of "TIZ" from the drug store now and gladden your tortured feet?
"TIZ" makes your feet glow with comfort; takes down swellings and draws the soreness and misery right out of feet that chafe, smart and burn. "TIZ" instantly stops pain in corns, callouses and bunions. "Tiz" is glorious for tired, aching, sore feet.
No more shoe tightness—no more

A LARGE DRY PETITION FILED

Petition Bearing 1114 Names Left with County Auditor on Tuesday Afternoon, May 18

ELECTION IS SET FOR JUNE 28TH

Names of Petitioners From Every Section, Town and Township of Crow Wing County

Crow Wing county will vote on county option on June 28. A petition asking for the election was filed with the county auditor on Tuesday evening, May 18.

The committee bearing the document with its 1114 names was H. F. Michael, R. R. Livingston, W. S. Pitt and D. A. Haggard.

The names include petitioners from about every section, township and town of the county. There are petitioners from Crow Wing, Barrows, Fort Ripley, Deerwood, Brainerd, Crosby, Manganese, Ironton, Emily, Oak Lawn, Long Lake, Maple Grove, Platte Lake, Mission, Fairfield, Allen, Nokay Lake, Klondike, Riverton, Pequot, Pelican, Sibley, St. Mathias, Cuyuna, Baxter, Garrison and Bay Lake.

Petitions still continue to come in to dry headquarters. More names are being secured, but the committee thought it advisable to file as soon as a sufficient number were secured in order to set the election date early, being June 28. Notaries circulated the petitions.

Many men previously "wet" on local option were quite willing to sign the "dry" petition.

W. S. Pitt, of Crosby, president of the Crow Wing County Option League, was very active in securing names on petitions.

The "drys" are confident of success. Of the nine counties in the state which have voted under county option law, all have voted "dry." Most notable was Clay county in which is situated Moorhead. The county had a majority of 1066 for the "drys."

The "dry" committee believes Brainerd will vote "dry" even more solidly than at the local option election, as they claim now that the wider they can make the "dry" zone, the better it will be.

TO START POPULAR MOVEMENT

Speakers Will Cover the State the Coming Fall Advocating New Commercial Federation

A series of meetings will be undertaken next fall in all the important cities of the state by the Minnesota Commercial and Civic Federation. Two speakers will be assigned for each town and they will be men of high standing and expert information.

The subjects discussed in this statewide campaign will be those directly related to the objects of this new body—co-operation; the short sightedness of sectionalism in the state; better relations between the people and their institutions and the civic development of the town in which each meeting is held.

Preparing a schedule for such a series is a large task. The officers of the Federation will solve it, naturally, largely according to the order in which the commercial and civic clubs of the state apply for the speakers. Wherever possible a conference will be arranged with the officers of the town commercial club to discuss plans for increasing the membership of that club, for town development and speakers for other meetings.

AND THE 24 PAGE EDITION

"It was a Real Newspaper Covering the Brainerd-Cuyuna Range Field With Completeness"

Under the heading, "Making A State," the News-Tribune of Duluth of May 18, pays a handsome compliment to the enterprise of the Brainerd Dispatch in getting out the "Brainerd, City of Opportunity and Range Review" number.

Occupying a prominent place on the editorial page is this glowing tribute:

"The Brainerd Daily Dispatch treated its readers to a 24-page newspaper last Friday. It was a real newspaper covering the Brainerd-Cuyuna range field with a completeness that left nothing to be desired.

It was equally worthy that this edition was wholly the product of the Dispatch's own force and office. The so-called "country press" of Minnesota frequently sets the pace for the also supposedly metropolitan press of the state. There is no better indication of the enterprise, prosperity and civic pride of communities than such newspapers.

They show the sort of places for safe investment and permanent residence. Indeed, it is the splendid country press of Minnesota that is the strongest influence in the making of the state."

WANTS TO KNOW

Dear Mr. Editor:

Like the Japanese, "I write for to know." Your paper last night contained the report of the council proceedings and which stated that the council gave the Tri State Telephone Co. ordinance its first reading.

Now frankly, Mr. Editor what is to be gained by having another phone system? We are getting a satisfactory service and for the life of me I cannot see why we should have another.

It will cost the business man $30 a year extra for his business and from $15.00 to $24.00 extra for his residence and surely he cannot have twice the number of connections. Then every citizen who would wish to be in connection with all the phones of the city must spend another $15.00 at least. It would seem as if the taxpayers could much easier pay for the city hall phones than to have to pay more for their own phones. I cannot see the benefit of it and "write for to know." Perhaps you can explain why we should have it. If it is a good thing let us have it but I think your readers would like to have you discuss it.

Verndale Team Opens the Season at Brainerd with Games Saturday and Sunday

Next Saturday the Verndale ball team goes to Brainerd to help formally open the baseball season in that city. A two game series will be played with the allstar team of that city and as Brainerd has the reputation of doing things it is expected to be an event of some note. Anderson is scheduled to pitch the opener for the locals while Gourd will perform in the Sunday game.

The Verndale team made quite a hit with the Brainerd fans last summer when they held the fast team of that city to a 12 inning tie, and the locals will no doubt prove a good drawing card for the opener. Word comes from Brainerd that the fans of that city are to make the opening day a sort of a holiday and the season will be ushered in in regular city style. There will be a parade of the two teams with the Mayor throwing the first ball over. Verndale expects to win both games, but otherwise we don't propose to interfere with the arrangements made by the Brainerd fans.—Verndale Sun.

"Put It Away! You Know You Daren't Use It!"

"Put it away," he said, "you are a wonderful man, but there are limits to your power. You can tear my tongue out from my mouth, but you cannot force me to speak."

Quest leaned a little farther forward in his chair, his gaze became more concentrated.

"That is where you are wrong, Craig. That is where you make a mistake. In a very few minutes you will be telling me all the secrets of your heart."

Craig shivered, drew back a little in his chair, tried to rise and fell back again helpless.

"My God!" he cried. "Leave me alone!"

"When you have told me the truth," Quest answered swiftly, "and you will tell me all I want to know in a few minutes."

Your eyelids are getting a little heavy, Craig. Don't resist. Something which is like sleep is coming over you. You see my will has yours by the throat."

Craig shook his head. A very weak smile of triumph flickered for a moment at the corners of his lips.

"Your torture chamber trick won't work on me!" he exclaimed. "You can never—"

The whole gamut of emotions seemed already to have spent themselves in the man's face, but at that moment there was a new element, an element of terrified curiosity in the expression of his eyes as he stared towards the door.

"Is this another trick of yours?" he muttered.

Quest, too, turned his head and sprang instantly to his feet. From underneath the door came a little puff of smoke. There was a queer sense of heat of which both men were simultaneously conscious. Down in the street arose a chorus of warning shouts, increasing momentarily in volume.

Quest threw open the door and closed it again at once.

"The place is on fire," he announced briefly. "Pull yourself together, man. We shall have all we can do to get out of this."

Craig turned to the door, but staggered back almost immediately.

"The stairs are going!" he shrieked. "It is the kitchen that is on fire. We are cut off! We cannot get down!"

Quest was on his hands and knees, volume. Quest threw open the door and closed it again at once.

What War Moves Mean

By J. W. T. Mason

Written for the United Press

New York, May 18.—The Austrians and the Germans won about 8,000 square miles of territory in Galicia, since May 1, when the drives against the Russians in the west and south began. The entire western part of Galicia has been swept clear of the Slavs and the Russians have been forced back from the Carpathians to a new battle front between 20 and 40 miles north from the mountain passes. The reclaimed Galician territory has the same area as that part of France now in German possession. No other campaign of the war has had such extensive results as the present southwestern operations.

About 50 per cent of Galician land lately in the possession of the invaders has been redeemed in 17 days. Permyst and Lemberg, however remain to be taken. They are the centers of the two main defensive positions of the Russians.

The Austrians and Germans are now before Permyst, and are about 40 miles from Lemberg. With the capture of these military bases the Russian hold on Galicia will become negligible. The Slavs are in danger of being trapped, if they do not change the present direction of their retreat. They are keeping away from the Russian border of Galicia and are moving southeast toward Bukovina. This effort to avenge the loss of Galicia by invading Bukovina is a perilous adventure. Bukovina is bound on the east and south by Roumania. Once the Russians are in the crown colonies, the Austrians and the Germans might be able to close the northern exits which led into Galicia, and make impregnable the Carpathian passes which run into Hungary and Transylvania. The Russians would have to surrender on Bukovina soil, or they would be forced to retreat into Roumania, the Roumanian authorities would have to intern them. The attempt of the Russian government, therefore, to create the impression that compensations for Galician losses are being won in Bukovina must be disquieting the western allies. The danger of a Russian debacle surpassing those of eastern Prussia is too near to be overlooked in London and Paris, however much it may be neglected in Petrograd.

Land Values Increasing

Pessenden, N. D., May 18.—Land values in Wells county are increasing. This is shown today by the facts that east-run parties were refused the purchase of land for which they offered $16,000 for a half section.

City to Buy Pine Land

Bemidji, Minn., May 18.—If planning made today carry, the city of Bemidji will purchase the tract of virgin pine on the east shore of the Lake Bemidji, which covers a tract more than a mile long on the lake shore.

Another tract of pine at the north-west corner of Lake Bemidji is also being considered. Either tract would make an ideal park as they are located on the lake shore and consist of tall straight pines with no undergrowth.

RUGGED BRITISH SEA LORD QUILTS

Admiral Fisher Unable to Agree With Churchill.

TALK OF COALITION CABINET

New Ministry, Composed of the Strongest Men of Both Political Parties, Is Believed to Be the Probable Solution of the Government's Difficulties.

London, May 19.—The resignation of Lord Fisher from his post as first sea lord of the admiralty because he and his nominal civilian superior, Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, have been unable to work together, is probably the first step toward a sweeping reorganization of the British government.

A coalition cabinet, composed of the strongest men of both political parties, is believed to be the probable solution of the government's difficulties. There is no question of a complete change of the government, but the retirement of several members of the Liberal cabinet to make way for the strongest men of the Conservative party is confidently expected.

Premier Asquith will remain at the head of the government in any event, with Lord Kitchener and Sir Edward Grey, respectively the war and foreign ministers, in undisputed possession of their present posts, while David Lloyd-George, the chancellor of the exchequer, and Mr. Churchill probably will take new positions.

Of the Conservatives, Andrew Bonar Law, the opposition leader in the house of commons; former Premier Balfour, Lord Derby and Austen Chamberlain almost certainly would enter the cabinet, and either Lord Curzon, Lord Milner or the Earl of Selborne from the Conservative leaders in the house of lords.

Irish Leaders Mentioned.

The Labor party would probably be represented by the Right Honorable Arthur Henderson, its chairman, and there is talk of both of the Irish leaders, John Redmond and Sir Edward Carson, becoming members.

For nine months the Liberal cabinet has conducted the war government with loyal support from the leaders of the Conservative party in parliament.

Since the month of May brought the most critical days of the great struggle upon them the British people of all parties have become more and more convinced that the management of their destinies by one political party cannot bring the full strength of the nation into the struggle.

Consequently a reorganization of the forces, it is thought, would meet a growing popular demand.

The Conservative newspapers have not felt the same obligation to respect the party truce that the parliamentary leaders have shown and their criticisms of government policies and of certain cabinet members have stirred up an undercurrent of discontent throughout the country.

The rupture between Admiral Fisher and Mr. Churchill was no surprise. One is a stiff-necked old man who is popularly credited with both the determination and the ability to command the navy as masterfully as Kitchener commands the army, while the other is a strenuous and ambitious young man who is equally resolved to enforce his own views and naval policy.

ONE OF THE BEST ASSETS

Many People Overlook the Fact that the Fish and Game of the State is Worth Millions

Game and fish still furnish large quantities of fur and food, and constitute one of the state's assets. With the exception of the buffalo, which formerly roamed in immense numbers over the prairies, and the beaver, which has but a few colonies left in Itasca State Park and in the Superior Game Preserve, all the animals originally in Minnesota are still fairly well represented, and deer, moose, bear, fox, lynx, skunk, racoon, mink, and musk rat abound. The wild pigeon, which formerly existed in almost countless numbers, is no longer seen in the state, and wild geese are getting scarce; but partridge, prairie chicken, quail, and ducks are numerous. The best varieties of faged fish abound in the streams and lakes of Minnesota, and the value of the annual catch approximates a million dollars. In recent years, pearl fisheries have become important on the upper Mississippi. Clams are fished out of the river, and searched for pearls. Besides pearls, the clams furnish a pearly shell used in the manufacture of buttons. About 10,000 tons of these shells are obtained annually from the upper Mississippi and its tributaries, Minnesota producing about one-fifth.

There is no state in the union that offers the advantages to the tourist and summer visitor that Minnesota does, and the fish and game of the state is worth much more than can be estimated. Millions of dollars are spent annually by people seeking recreation, and much of this could be diverted to Minnesota, much more than now comes this way, if the fact was properly advertised.

The Record in Brainerd is a Unique One

If the reader has a "bad back" or any kidney ills and is looking for an effective kidney medicine, better depend on the remedy endorsed by people you know. Doan's Kidney Pills have given great satisfaction in such cases. Brainerd citizens testify to this. Here is a case of it:

Charles Ellison, 512 S. Quince St., Brainerd, Minn., says: "My kidneys were disordered for several years and seemed to be gradually getting worse. I was taken with such awful pains in my back that I had to go to bed. Medicines patched me up somewhat and I got out in a few weeks, but I continued to suffer severely. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at H. P. Dunn's Drug Store. A few boxes put me in good shape." (Statement given September 1, 1908.)

OVER FIVE YEARS LATER Mr. Ellison said: "I can still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. The relief they gave me has lasted."

Beulah's New School

Beulah, N. D., May 19.—"I wish to congratulate Beulah on having the only small town rural school in the state of North Dakota, which lives up to and exceeds the state standards," said E. J. Taylor, superintendent of the public instruction, today.

TALK OF COALITION CABINET

New Ministry, Composed of the Strongest Men of Both Political Parties, is Believed to Be the Probable Solution of the Government's Difficulties.

London, May 19.—The resignation of Lord Fisher from his post as first sea lord of the admiralty because he and his nominal civilian superior, Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, have been unable to work together, is probably the first step toward a sweeping reorganization of the British government.

A coalition cabinet, composed of the strongest men of both political parties, is believed to be the probable solution of the government's difficulties. There is no question of a complete change of the government, but the retirement of several members of the Liberal cabinet to make way for the strongest men of the Conservative party is confidently expected.

Premier Asquith will remain at the head of the government in any event, with Lord Kitchener and Sir Edward Grey, respectively the war and foreign ministers, in undisputed possession of their present posts, while David Lloyd George, the chancellor of the exchequer, and Mr. Churchill probably will take new positions.

Of the Conservatives, Andrew Bonar Law, the opposition leader in the house of commons; former Premier Balfour, Lord Derby and Austen Chamberlain almost certainly would enter the cabinet, and either Lord Curzon, Lord Milner or the Earl of Selborne from the Conservative leaders in the house of lords.

Irish Leaders Mentioned.

The Labor party would probably be represented by the Right Honorable Arthur Henderson, its chairman, and there is talk of both of the Irish leaders, John Redmond and Sir Edward Carson, becoming members.

For nine months the Liberal cabinet has conducted the war government with loyal support from the leaders of the Conservative party in parliament. Since the month of May brought the most critical days of the great struggle upon them the British people of all parties have become more and more convinced that the management of their destinies by one political party cannot bring the full strength of the nation into the struggle.

Consequently a reorganization of the forces, it is thought, would meet a growing popular demand.

The Conservative newspapers have not felt the same obligation to respect the party truce that the parliamentary leaders have shown and their criticisms of government policies and of certain cabinet members have stirred up an undercurrent of discontent throughout the country.

The rupture between Admiral Fisher and Mr. Churchill was no surprise. One is a stiff-necked old man who is popularly credited with both the determination and the ability to command the navy as masterfully as Kitchener commands the army, while the other is a strenuous and ambitious young man who is equally resolved to enforce his own views and naval policy.

Fourteen of Nineteen Directors Will Appear in Court Oct. 5.

Five of the twenty-one indicted have been granted separate trials.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. ## AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Common garden Sage and Sulphur makes streaked, faded or gray hair dark and glossy at once.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by repeating the operation three or four times, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.
